SPRING MAY

On SOPTV  PBS

Wallander: The Final Season

Dealing with northern Europe's most violent and deranged criminals, Wallander also battles personal demons and appalling health habits, which led him to be diagnosed with diabetes. Now, as he starts to lose his memory, his greatest fear is that he is succumbing to the same disease that felled his father: Alzheimer's. Kenneth Branagh's portrayal of this terrifying struggle is a heartbreaking performance.

The Homefront

The stories — and the service — of military families have often been overlooked. With unprecedented access and filmed over 14 months, this revealing documentary creates a series of intimate portraits — following families through the difficulties of deployment, the joys of homecoming, and the challenges of reintegrating as a family after many months apart.

ANNUAL VIEWER SURVEY

Mark Stanislawski

Dear Member,

The average American watches 35 hours of television a week. That's 1,820 hours a year. This figure does not include streaming content from Netflix, Hulu, or PBS.org and video.SOPTV.org.

As a member of SOPTV, I'm sure your television viewing is probably not "average." That's why, when you are seeking something worth watching, you tune to SOPTV.

While we all have a favorite program on commercially supported television, it is stunning (if not numbing!) to realize the average viewer pays for that programming by watching more than 30,000 minutes of commercials each year. That's over 500 hours!

But, thanks to your support, SOPTV is based on a different model. We begin and end with you in mind. We respect your curiosity and capacity to understand issues. Public TV programming is carefully researched — we double-check sources and identify the best stories. Programs are "polished" until we're sure you'll find watching the program to be the best possible investment of your time.

That's why SOPTV counts on your voluntary contributions to help us pay for the programming you enjoy.

That's also why we want to know what you want to see on SOPTV. Every May we conduct a "Member Preference Survey" — find it on page 31 of this issue of Inside SOPTV or on our website at soptv.org/survey. Please take advantage of this opportunity to let us know what you think about SOPTV's programming service. Then please rate our responsiveness to you and offer suggestions about how we can improve SOPTV's services so we become even more valuable to you.

We will not only act on your comments — we'll enter your name to win our "Dinner and a Movie" drawing for a gift basket full of PBS/SOPTV movies, popcorn, and a $100 gift card to Porters Dining at the Depot Restaurant in Medford. Please reply by June 10. I will report back to you what we have learned in the August and September issues.

Thank you for supporting SOPTV — we couldn't do it without your help!

With gratitude,

Mark Stanislawski

1964: American Experience

It was the year the Beatles came to the U.S., Cassius Clay became Muhammad Ali, and three civil rights workers were murdered in Mississippi. Americans faced choices: between support or opposition to the civil rights movement, between embracing the emerging counterculture or defending traditional values.

Tuesday, May 10 at 8 pm

Nature: The Last Orangutan Eden

Ecologist Chris Morgan immersed himself in a unique social band of wild orangs that use tools, share food, forage together, and create their own distinct culture. Cameras follow the orangs throughout the canopy to provide an intimate picture of how these arboreal apes spend their days and nights and interact with one another.

Genius by Stephen Hawking

"Do you need to be a genius to answer the big questions?" asks Prof. Stephen Hawking. Each episode features three people with curious minds who must use their own intellect to learn what humanity's most notable thinkers have discovered about the greatest scientific mysteries over the centuries.

Wed. at 9 & 10 pm, starting May 18

Pidgin: The Voice of Hawaii

Born on sugar plantations, spoken by more than half Hawaii's population, part English, part Hawaiian, with other languages mixed in, Pidgin captures the essence of multi-ethnic Hawaii. This documentary profiles the language of Hawaii's working people in its rise from plantation jargon to a source of island identity and pride.

Jazz Town: An Oregon Experience

World War II brought a great wave of workers and their families to the shipyards of Portland, and the city's African-American population grew from 2,000 to about 22,000. Newcomers came with a shared passion for rhythm-and-blues and jazz, but they had come to a segregated city that offered few venues for black people to perform or to listen to music.
