Koko: The Gorilla Who Talks

In 1971, Penny Patterson, a graduate student at Stanford, met Koko, a newborn gorilla in San Francisco Zoo. Penny had grown up wanting to communicate with animals and decided to teach Koko sign language in the hope of finally crossing the boundary between animals and humans. What started out as a science experiment evolved into a love story that has challenged the way we think about animals and changed the course of many lives.

VIEWER SURVEY RESULTS

Dear Member,

Many thanks for participating in our annual member preference poll. This is the ninth year we have asked you to rate our programs, services, and your member experience.

Your comments, suggestions, and criticisms help us improve our services to you. We do this because it is your support that enables us to provide public television service to southern Oregon.

Favorite Program: Again this year, Masterpiece led the pack with 31% of the respondents watching Masterpiece Mystery, Downton Abbey, and Grantchester. The PBS NewsHour was second with 11%.

Favorite Type of Programming on SOPTV: Science and Nature programming (76%) was in the first position followed by Documentaries (71%), News/Public Affairs (66%), Mysteries (64%), and Travel (52%).

Favorite Local Programs: Viewers mentioned Immense Possibilities, Oregon Field Guide, Southern Oregon Treasures, Oregon Art Beat, and local history programs.

Viewing of SOPTV-Create and SOPTV-World: Viewership of these two ancillary channels has more than doubled in the last five years.

We are sorry that these two additional channels are only available over-the-air with antenna or via Charter Cable; if you are a Dish or Direct TV subscriber, tell them you want these channels.

When asked which is the most important aspect of SOPTV's overall program services, Informational was first (35%), followed by Entertainment (27%), Educational (21%), and Cultural (17%).

And, finally to rate your satisfaction for interactions with our staff about programming or membership, 51% replied Excellent, 34% replied Good, 12% Average, and 3% Poor. We'll keep working on this to assure every interaction is excellent.

We exist to provide you with the best television on television. Thank you for your continued support of SOPTV!

Summer, Surf & Beach Music We Love

It's time to hit the sand and the sea with songs from legendary artists of the 1960s and 1970s. Celebrate the sun-drenched sounds of the greatest surf guitar, rock, and pop tunes that still ride the waves of popularity today by the Beach Boys, Ventures, Drifters, Jan & Dean, and more.

Monday, September 5 at 8 pm

POV: Koch

New York City mayors have a world stage on which to strut, and they have made legendary use of it. Yet few have matched the bravado, combativeness, and egocentricity that Ed Koch brought to the office during his three terms from 1978 to 1989. Enjoy this portrait of a larger-than-life New York City mayor.

A Place to Call Home

This romantic drama series centers on enigmatic nurse Sarah Adams (Marta Dusseldorp) as she returns to her native Australia after two decades in Europe. Estranged from her mother and carrying the secrets of her wartime experiences, Adams becomes involved in the lives of the Blighs, a wealthy pastoralist family.

Fridays at 9 pm, starting Sept. 16

The Address

Each year, at a tiny school in Putney, Vermont — the Greenwood School — the students are encouraged to practice, memorize, and recite the Gettysburg Address. The film unlocks the history, context, and importance of President Lincoln's most powerful address.

Primetime 3-Channel Schedule

Poldark Season 2 on Masterpiece

In 18th century Cornwall, times are as tough as the rocky shoreline: unemployment, hunger, and sickness are widespread among the working class, while the wealthy landowners prosper. Only one man, Captain Ross Poldark, dares to defy the status quo, but he is behind bars, accused of murder and “wrecking,” and it looks like he’s headed for the gallows! Don’t miss the two-hour premiere.
